UBC Integrated Faculty Development Program

Join Us!
Learn and network with others to support the integration of health and interprofessional learning at UBC.

The Faculty of Pharmaceutical Sciences is proud to host Foundations of Interprofessional Education, a one hour workshop during which you will meet like-minded colleagues from other programs and experience a collaborative multidisciplinary cohort, while learning about the different ways in which faculty can support integrated and interprofessional learning at UBC.

This marks the first learning experience in the Integrated Faculty Development Program, which was presented to you by the Office of the Vice-Provost Health (formerly the College of Health Disciplines) during a short presentation at a recent faculty meeting. We are pleased to be able to host this workshop and invite faculty from other programs to network and grow with us.

As the health professional programs at UBC are entering a new phase of integration that will facilitate improved collaboration as well as interprofessional education, it is more important than ever to engage in faculty development that will prepare you to teach using interprofessional approaches. We hope you will be able to join us:

Date:          October 16, 2015
Time:          1:00-2:00pm
Location:      Room 3202 in the Pharmaceutical Sciences Building

RSVP to Clare Davies, Senior Program Assistant at clare.davies@ubc.ca by October 9th, 2015.